Provider Services:	Amphitheater School District has a strong history of providing supplemental services for all students with special needs. Our previous experience includes "Project Achieve" which was initiated during the 2001-2002 school year. This program involves after school academic help for at-risk children in grades one through twelve. Homework help, basic skills development in reading and math, language development for ESL students and AIMS preparation are all a part of Project Achieve. We keep a 15 to 1 student/teacher ratio and provide individual help with volunteer tutors.

Over the past 26 years, Belle Billingsley has been very successful in tutoring individuals of all ages, either individually or in small groups. The majority of students tutored have been special education or at-risk of failing a class or a grade level. Belle has assisted students in raising scores on the Stanford 9, enabled them to pass a course or a grade level, moved students through the Arizona State Standards, and watched their continued success.

Curriculum/Program:

Methods and materials have been adapted and developed by Belle Billingsley from the following resources:

- Reading: Slosson, Edson, Core Knowledge, High Utility, Dloch, Spalding, McCall Crabb, Sunshine Readers and Hayes
- Spelling/Writing: Sunshine Readers, Start, Spalding, Hey

- Wingo, Hayes, and Core Knowledge
- Math: Abeka, Strayer-Upton, Saxon, Harcourt Brace, and Core Knowledge

Type of Instruction Available:	Small group instruction (teacher/pupil ratio - 1:4) Individual instruction
Provider Services:	Last year, Carmel Community Arts & Technology School provided one-on-one and small group tutoring to 40% of their K-8 students. Students were identified as needing additional assistance through the Compass Computer Curriculum tests. Compass is aligned to the state standards. From these results, students' areas of low academic achievement were determined. A specialist developed an individualized tutoring program based on instructional methods that match and support the instruction in the classroom. After tutoring, students were given the Compass Curriculum post-test. All students showed improvement in their area of need.

Provider Services:

For the last five years, Ocotillo Elementary has provided tutorial services for Students Needing Accelerated Progress (SNAP) in reading. Each group is a small group of 4-5 students at about the same reading level. They meet daily for 30 minutes with a tutor that plans and assesses the instruction. The average gain in reading level is about six months per student. Math instruction is based on our belief that students learn the math concepts best through game-based, hands-on activities. These learning activities that promote conceptual understanding were developed by the Department of Mathematics at the University of Arizona through the PRIME (Promoting Reform In Mathematics Education) program, 1998.

Provider Services:	Parker Unified has provided tutoring, summer school, intersession activities, and extended day programs to students in the Parker School District for more than three years. Summer School requires teacher recommendation and is generally provided for students who are not making adequate progress in the classroom. Primary teachers have been trained in effective reading strategies through CLIP. CLIP-trained teachers identify at-risk students in the primary grades and provide intensive and individual instruction to these students. In order to make activities accessible to all students, the District also provides additional transportation for these supplemental programs.

The Voyager Universal Literacy System is based on research findings in the 2000 report of the National Reading Panel (Teaching Children to Read) and the 1998 report of the National Research Council (Preventing Reading Difficulties in Young Children). These reports are the foundation sources for the Voyager Universal Literacy System. Voyager's Reading Intervention curricula for extended day and summer incorporate the five essential components of reading instruction (phonemic awareness, phonics, fluency, vocabulary, and comprehension) as defined in the report of the National Reading Panel. Systematic, explicit instruction addresses each of these components, using a carefully structured sequence of skill development. The Voyager curricula are built upon a detailed scope and sequence. The skills in each lesson build upon the skills in the previous lesson. Likewise, skills in each grade level build upon skills and strategies from the previous grade.
